9. CONCLUSION

The government, through the Ministry of Human Resources, has set ambitious goals of creating a 35% skilled workforce by 2030. To achieve this target, we must adopt a holistic and strategic approach to human capital development.

This means democratising access to learning and development opportunities for every segment of society and ensuring no one is left behind. As the custodian of Malaysian's human capital development aspirations, it is HRD Corp's prerogative to support Malaysia in achieving this aspiration.

The PLM is an instrumental programme in achieving this aim. These guidelines are necessary in ensuring the successful implementation of PLM for now and the future. Therefore, we seek the support and cooperation from all stakeholders and partners to comply with these guidelines and work with us to make a positive difference to Malaysia's micro-SMEs and underserved communities.
